

ILLUSTRATIVE SAMPLE / 01

Your Personal Poland Move Report

Confirm the commitments before committing your savings.

ILLUSTRATIVE SAMPLE - NOT A CUSTOMER ASSESSMENT

This fictional profile and its numerical scenarios demonstrate the report format. It is not a paid order, a live market search or a verified eligibility assessment.

Fictional profile behind these figures

One adult considering Warsaw. Assumed take-home income: 8,000 PLN per month; moving savings: 30,000 PLN. Housing and other costs below are fictional ranges, not market estimates.

What matters most

This fictional profile shows how the report connects work, housing and the first 90 days. The next decision is not whether Poland is universally right for you, but whether the actual offer, housing commitment and applicable formal route support your plan.

TO CONFIRM

Make the first payment date explicit

Ask when the first full payment would reach your account and compare that date with the rent and deposit schedule.

CONDITION TO REVIEW

Replace the sample budget with written prices

The housing example illustrates the separate recurring and upfront costs. These sample numbers are not market evidence.

Your first three actions

- Confirm the first payment date
- Get the complete housing cost
- Check your applicable procedures

This report does not guarantee a job, a visa, a residence decision or affordability. Unresolved questions are left visible rather than filled with invented answers.

ILLUSTRATIVE SAMPLE / 02

Your household budget

All scenarios are in PLN for the whole household. Estimates are ranges, not quotations or take-home-pay calculations.

Keep move-in cash separate from monthly spending

The numbers in this sample are hypothetical planning inputs, not researched market prices.

- Scope: Replace every estimate with current evidence and your own quotations.

Warsaw

Rent / month	2,800 - 3,400
Other monthly costs	2,200 - 2,800
Total / month	5,000 - 6,200
Additional upfront costs	4,500 - 6,500
Monthly amount remaining	1,800 - 3,000
Reserve with no income	3.7 - 5.1 months

- One adult in a private apartment. Fictional amounts.
- Other monthly spending includes assumed charges and ordinary living costs.
- Upfront costs exclude first-month rent already counted in monthly spending.

How the numbers are calculated

Monthly cost = rent + other monthly costs. Remaining income = stated net income minus the cost range.

No-income reserve = savings after additional upfront costs divided by monthly costs. Gross pay is never used as net pay.
